Juliet Hooker is the Royce Family Professor of Teaching Excellence in Political Science at Brown University. She is also the author of Race and the Politics of Solidarity (Oxford, 2009), Theorizing Race in the Americas: Douglass, Sarmiento, Du Bois, and Vasconcelos (Oxford, 2017), and editor of Black and Indigenous Resistance in the Americas: From Multiculturalism to Racist Backlash (Lexington Books, 2020). Theorizing Race in the Americas was awarded the American Political Science Association’s 2018 Ralph Bunche Book Award for the best work in ethnic and cultural pluralism and the 2018 Best Book Award of the Race, Ethnicity, and Politics Section of the American Political Science Association. Prof. Hooker has also been the recipient of fellowships and awards from the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, the DuBois Institute for African American Research at Harvard, and the Advanced Research Collaborative at the Graduate Center of the City University of New York. Her current book, Black Grief/White Grievance: The Politics of Loss, is being published on Oct. 3, 2023 by Princeton University Press.

Notable Works:

Possible Speaking Subjects:

- “Rethinking Democracy: The Role of Race and Ethnicity in Political Theory”
- “Race, Memory, and Mourning: Examining the Role of Collective Memory in Racial Politics”
- “Historical Trauma and the Politics of Reckoning: Lessons from Black and White Americans”
- “Solidarity and Social Change: Building Bridges Between Black Grief and White Grievance”
- “Public Memory and Political Change: The Impact of Racial Trauma on American Democracy”
- “Reconciliation and Accountability: Moving Forward in the Aftermath of Racial Violence”

"Black Grief/White Grievance is every bit as stark and urgent as the moment of racial reckoning that inspired it. Juliet Hooker has brilliantly dissected a fundamental dichotomy of American life—the inequality of loss—and pointed to its damning implications for our democracy. By all indicators, these insights will only grow more relevant with time." - Jelani Cobb, Columbia Journalism School

"This fascinating book provides a rich and timely dialogical space that goes beyond our polarized politics. Juliet Hooker’s subtle analysis gets inside the complex dynamics of the Black and White worlds in order to deepen our commitment to democratic possibilities." - Cornel West, Union Theological Seminary

NOTABLE WORKS:

CONTACT:
Nanda Dyssou, Publicist
nanda@corioliscompany.com
(424)-226-6148

@creoleprof
www.juliethooker.com