

HOW TO BURN A RAINBOW

MY GAY MARRIAGE DIDN'T MAKE ME WHOLE, MY DIVORCE DID

What readers are calling the gay Eat, Pray, Love...

Sometimes, to find yourself, you must first burn everything down.

Karl had it all; a husband, a home in the Los Angeles Hills, success. When his marriage ended suddenly, his perfect life and sense of self were shattered.

His legal battles threatened everything he had, and he soon found himself working non-stop, leading to a downward spiral filled with anxious days and sleepless nights of rage and fear.

Ironically, Karl's divorce ignited a journey of self-discovery—a quest for identity, love, and acceptance that took him from LA to a mid-divorce crash-landing in Berlin.

This raw and unflinching memoir welcomes readers into the heart of Karl's transformative journey—burning the scripts written for him by both the gay and straight worlds, facing down his deepest fears, and forging his own path to self-love.

How To Burn A Rainbow is a gripping narrative of resilience and courage that dares to ask the hard questions about love, equality, and the price of happiness.

In the end, Karl's marriage didn't make him whole, his divorce did.

Karl Dunn is an author, speaker, and multi award-winning advertising Creative Director. A true global citizen, Karl has lived in eleven cities over five continents. Today he works as a consultant with businesses on their social good, LGBTQ+, and Pride endeavors.

He is also an avid writer on LGBTQ+ people in media, business, and society, and on how companies can better support divorcing employees.

Publication Date: May 17, 2024
ISBN-13: 979-8-89316-004-8 (Paperback)
ISBN-13: 979-8-89316-005-5 (Ebook)

CONTACT:
Nanda Dyssou, Publicist
nanda@corioliscompany.com
(424)-226-6148